MOTE.—In reply to the opposition to class teaching, we beg to state that all important musical institutions in Europe approve of and adopt the method. The class system, when applied by capable instructors, has been found to possess many advantages, being particularly applicable to beginners, causing an amicable rivarity among the pupils, while the realiments, exercises, &c., else so fatiguing to learn, lose much of their unieviting and wear-some features. Reading at sight, a qualification so necessary to every performer, it assists to a surprising degree. One of the most notable results of class teaching is its radical removal of that deplorable habit, prevalent among so many—the habit of playing out of time. It excitescents, lation and the ambition of the student to excet, to become a thorough musician instead of a more performer, and is certain of imparting suff-reliance and confidence, two qualifies absolutely necessary to complete success. A.—THE HOWARD METHOD FOR THE VOICE.

MARWKILLOUS RESULTS.

'I now strike C above whenever I wish to, and the B flat and A below it are getting so meliow and easy that my family find the difficult to believe that I strike them correctly. My voice is extending both ways in compass. I now feel scarcely any physical sensation in the throat, and the very least breath east the vocal cords in vibrations, while my power of voice has seemingly almost doubled. Your system is certainly marvellous in its effects.'—H. E. Gemberling, editor of the Recorder, Albon, Mich. Howard claims to have discovered and made intensely practical a new principle for training the singing and speaking voice—the principle of "opposing the contract." If this dispersion of the vocal cord, in the training the singing and in the vocal cord, the word word word make the reformatory "opposing movements" impossible.

The Howard method supplies these powerful physical remedies for all the possible faults are found to word maturely specified to remain relaxed, since the physical faults are found to be comparatively few in number though the resulting faults and failures in quality, compass and power of voice, are almost incredible.
